Tell the Children what they want to hear and you will be their ruler.

Akhenaten and Nefertiti are the King and Queen of the heavens, Cepheus and Cassiopeia. They are also Bill Clinton and Hillary Rodham. The spirits embodied in these three couples are the same. They show on the surface that "father knows best." But, behind the sacred facade is the clear motivation that says, "it is not what is known, but who is known, that determines the course of time." The children are enthusiastic to learn the father's wisdom, but they will not accept it without the permission of the mother. It is the mother that gives the child the capacity to sense, and it is the senses and feelings at the Leo-Cancer boundary that establish the rational meaning behind all expressions.

The “melt down” of the banking system of the United States in 2008 is a direct result of the elimination of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic. In 1991 the Cold War ended. But, as America stepped into a New Age it put the Mother-Father on the throne of the world. That Mother-Father was Bill Clinton. The problem that confronted America was how to live without the Cold War. When the Mutually Assured Destruction (MAD) diplomacy existed after World War II and the Cold War was in place, America never lost sight of Judgment Day. But, with the collapse of the USSR, America lost sight of Judgment Day. Bill Clinton, a mother’s son whose father was unknown to him and whose step father was an alcoholic, took the throne of America, and the World with an offer the children of Columbia, Liberty, Freedom, and America could not refuse. He told them what they wanted to hear.

Thirty three centuries earlier Egypt experienced some 38 years of peace under Amenophis III, who was the richest man the world had ever seen. His grandfathers had fought the great fights and put a leash on the Mesopotamians who were always at war. Then Amenophis III, the real man who inspired the legend of Solomon, died without a son to take the throne. But, he left behind a Great Wife called Tiye. She is the one whom he adored so much that he created an inland lake for her to sail her yacht called Aten Gleams. Amenophis III and Tiye poured great wealth into one of the oldest cults of Egypt because it taught of a benevolent asexual deity that would give abundance to all who would receive life through the Light of the World.

<http://www.crystalinks.com/shofarhornbw.gif>

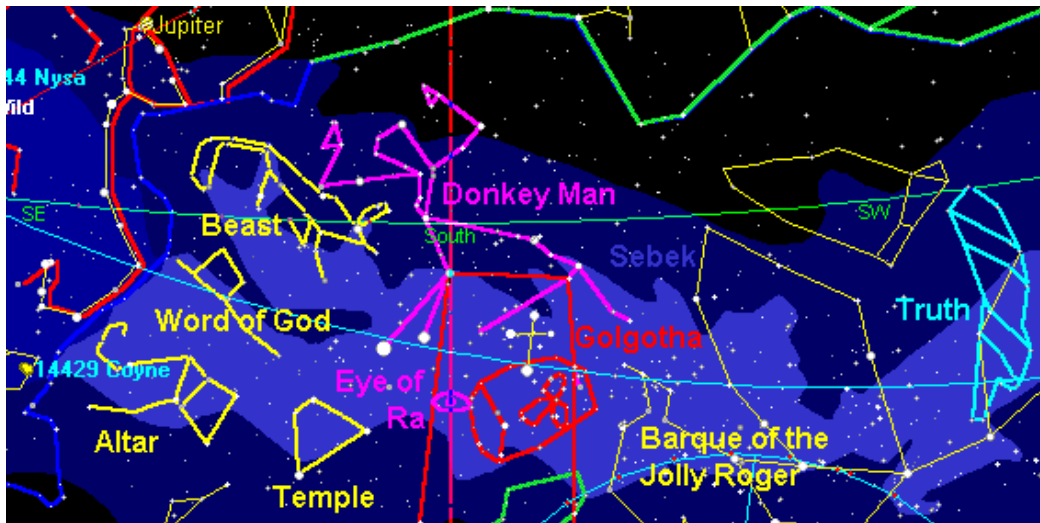

In the statue showing Amenophis III with Sebek, the First Father of Egypt, we see that the sculptors gave large hips to Sebek and they placed upon his head the wig of Hathor. The crown of Sebek includes the Horns of Khnum, and the Shofar of the Hebrews. In Egypt, as in Israel, the Horns of Khnum represented the rational knowledge of creation. On the head of Sebek the sculptors also placed the enlightened (sun disk) feathers of Amun. Amun was called the Unknowable One, which was also a meaning of the name of the God of the Hebrews, YHWH. But, since the Books of Moses were written after the debacle of Egypt at Akhetaten (Amarna), they did not give preference to the female aspect of Sebek that the sculptors showed for Sebek, the wide hips and the Hathor wig. The Hebrews kept the yarmulke of Ptah, the Egyptian deity that created by word and word alone all that could be understood. With the Exodus of Egypt, the Hebrews avoided the waters of the Reed Sea and wandered on the course of rationalized dreams. Now, with the Second Coming of the breakdown of the Ban-King system in America we are positioned to understand Hebrew rejection of the goddesses and the water of the Sea of Reeds where Hathor's tears flowed at the Wailing Wall.

The monotheism of the Aten was based upon the Spoken Word derived from the Sound of the Light of the World that came forth from the Shofar of Sebek. The Light of the World was, and always has been, Truth Reason. So, the Aten cult had the right idea, but, they got their access to the throne subsequent to a long period of "peace and love." Once it became clear that the "peace and love" generation was prone to bipolar neurosis, the rational people left Egypt. But, before they did, the priests who were empowered by the Queen of Sheba who had been Solomon's wife in Egypt destroyed all remnants of what was already Ancient Egypt. The temples to Amun and all the gods and goddesses of historical Egypt were destroyed in a vain attempt to force the people to listen to the rationalized enlightenment of the bipolar neurosis that had sunk into psychosis. After seventeen years on the throne of Egypt, the Aten rationalizations of the bipolar king had destroyed the Greatest Super Power the world had ever seen. Herein is the motive for the Exodus.

Sebek is the Father Crocodile in the Milky Way

<http://siloam.net/YOWUSA/Jacob/jacob07.gif>

Sebek, the First Father of Egypt, was reformed from the animist metaphor based upon the celestial facts into Akhenaten. The body form of Akhenaten was an exaggerated form of that of Sebek when he gave life to Amenophis III. The crocodile of Sebek was taken from the shape of the Milky Way under Lupus-Anubis and above Ara-Red Crown where the Word of God, Norma, resides at the mouth of cosmic reptile. The body shape of Akhenaten was aligned with Seb, the First Human Father of Egypt, our constellation Sculptor.

The head of a man replaced the head of a crocodile as the beast was made rational by the Word of God and the sound of the Shofar of Khnum and Amun from the depths of the Reed Sea. In the rationalizations of the beasts of the Third Part of the Stars of Heaven, the action of the Word in the mouth of the celestial Sebek still shows itself in the vignette of the New Kingdom Rulers of Egypt sitting on their thrones as their children seek the Word of the Father. She, “The Beautiful One Is Come,” and “He Who Is Useful To The Aten,” were identified as First Mother and First Father, the predecessors of Eve and Adam and the human forms at the top and bottom of the galactic home, Virgo and Sculptor, Nut and Seb.

But, then came September 11, 2001. America, lost in the dream of the Benevolent One, awoke on the clear sunny day when the Men from Ur came in Judgment of the Queen of Sheba, as they had done in Egypt thousands of years earlier. The solution chosen by George W. Bush was the same solution chosen by the kings of the 19th Dynasty. He drove the Angry Men off shore and then went to Ur to prevent them from ever coming again. But, the “Tell me what I want to hear” children of America desired “love and peace,” and failed to understand the purpose of the Libration of Ur.

http://i197.photobucket.com/albums/aa75/ascroll/moses_parting_the_red_sea.jpg

America can recover from the debacle that came for believing that there would not be a Day of Judgment by one simple act. America must restore the vision of Judgment Day exactly as was done by the 19th Dynasty kings of Egypt. If we do not accept the need for the awareness of Judgment Day, then we will wander with Bill Clinton wondering what the meaning of is is. The Exodus attempted to prevent the Sea of Reeds from drowning the Children of God. But, the loss of sensible emotion leads to the loss of Truth Reason because silence is repression.

The following presentations are for those with inklings that America lost its awareness of Judgment Day when it defeated the USSR and turned toward the same socialism that brought Egypt to its knees. It is time to sound the Shofar and walk with full respect for our needs of life giving waters. We can no longer pass through the Sea of Reeds to stand at the Wailing Wall without being drowned in the tears of Reason unbound by Truth. We must return to the Land of Bondage to Truth and learn to walk on water as our gossamer wings are prepared for the Rapture to come from ethereal spirits of the Forefathers of E Pluribus Unum. They envisioned truth on a monument of Thirteen Colonies as the reverse of seal with an eagle of gossamer wings.

Clinton-Appointed Raines Has Ties to Fannie Mae, Obama

by Terry Easton 09/22/2008 <http://www.humanevents.com/article.php?id=28641>

Now that the Obama attack ads are falsely accusing the Bush Administration and the Republicans of causing the current financial crisis, it's important to set the record straight over exactly how this dodgy home loan program -- and its run-on domino toppling of the nation's biggest banks and investment banks -- began. And, yes, it's once again the Democrats' fault. Surprised?

The story is, as usual, one of government manipulation of the free-market.

Before President Clinton and the Democrats in Congress intervened, the home mortgage business was healthy and stable, and housing prices were gradually rising in tune with the overall market (driven, of course, by the gradual increase in the money supply by the Federal Reserve, otherwise known as "monetary inflation").

Here's what happened.

On November 12, 1999, President Clinton repealed the Glass-Steagall Act, which for 55 years had prevented banks, the nation's lenders, to get into the so-called "investment banking" business (stock brokers). With lots of pressure in Congress by the Democratic members of the New York contingent, the Senate and House caved in and trashed a law which had provided stability in both the banking industry and on Wall Street.

What follows next reads like a third-rate screen play.

Banks jumped into the fray, and, encouraged by the Wall Street Democrats, began buying up and merging with Investment Banks, swapping assets, creating new loan "instruments" and weakening both independent systems.

Also in 1999, Clinton appointed Franklin Delano Raines, a Harvard Law School graduate and his Director of the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB), to become the CEO of the obscure but powerful Fannie Mae giant GSE (Government Sponsored Enterprise), which had been "privatized" and listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Mr. Raines immediately went to work lobbying Congress for less regulation and more "flexibility" in creating the massive dodgy-loan portfolio of under-qualified home loans to fellow minorities which would continue to grow and was encouraged by Barney Frank, another former Democrat & Harvard Law School graduate who now heads up the House Financial Services Committee -- which has key oversight over both Fannie Mae and Freddy Mac.

The good results of Mr. Raines' efforts soon became apparent.

On December 21, 2004, Raines accepted what he described as "early retirement" from his position as Fannie Mae's CEO while U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission investigators continued to investigate alleged accounting irregularities. The Office of Federal Housing Enterprise Oversight (OFHEO), the regulating body of Fannie Mae, has now accused him of abetting widespread accounting errors, which included the shifting of losses so senior executives, such as himself, could earn large bonuses.

Then, in 2006, the OFHEO filed suit against Raines in order to recover the $50 million in personal payments made to Raines based on Fannie Mae's overstated earnings which were initially stated to be $9 billion but have since been reduced to under $6.3 billion.

Undeterred, Mr. Raines now works for another Harvard Law School graduate, Mr. Barack Obama's presidential election campaign -- as an advisor on mortgage and housing policy matters.

Meanwhile, continuing pressure by the New York Democratic Congressional caucus encouraged both retail banks and the new mortgage subsidiaries of investment banks to also make home loans to less qualified borrowers (read: low income, poor-credit, deadbeat, and undocumented liars) -- if they wanted to continue to be able to benefit from light supervision and aggressive merger and acquisition practices.

By the end of the '90s, no less than nine separate, independent, and uncoordinated Federal Regulators had been created by Congress. These agencies included the SEC, CRTC, Controller of the Currency, Treasury, FRB and OFHEO, among others. They would poorly supervise what Clinton had now given birth to: a jungle of speculators, favor-seeking financial lobbyists, and Democrat-dominated Wall Street organizations who duly poured millions of dollars of contributions into Democrat coffers for the Congressional and Presidential elections.

By the time that "Securitization" of home loans (Fannie Mae began to convert its original business of making mortgages to creating packages of home loans that it could sell off as safe investments on Wall Street) began to grow, the Democrat Senators and Representatives cheered the wonders of the new-found ability of America's financial community to enable the poorest and least-qualified of their voters to finally be able to own their own homes.

U.S. home ownership, averaging around 65% for 50 years, suddenly jumped up to almost 70% -- and the housing construction sector took that cue to start building even more houses on spec, knowing that they would soon be bought using doggy loans.

Fixed rate mortgages gave way, under encouragement by the legislators, to so-called variable-rate ARMS and low-initial-entry-cost loans ("sharks").

In 1998, Senator Chuck Schumer of New York was elected. He now serves on both the Finance, and the Banking, Housing & Urban Affairs Committees, and is the Chairman of the powerful Housing, Transportation and Community Development Sub-committee. He also graduated from Harvard Law School.

After the sub-prime mortgage industry began its meltdown in March 2007, Schumer proposed a bailout by the Federal Government of sub-prime borrowers -- ostensibly to prevent these poor-credit owners from losing their homes. Financial commentators immediately observed that such a "bailout" would primarily benefit Wall Street bankers and other lenders -- who had made large campaign contributions to congressmen. (Schumer's nine biggest campaign donors are financial institutions -- who had contributed over $2.5 million to his re-election campaign.)

As the recent Indy-Bank collapse occurred, CNBC financial analyst Jerry Bowyer said that "Schumer was responsible for the second largest bank failure in US history."

The final invention of the new-world-order of funny money was the "Credit Default Swap", a derivative instrument which resembles an insurance policy but, in fact, can be used to magnify raw speculation profits -- and down side risks -- and was, ahem, generously exempt from regulation or even transparency.

The conditions had been set for a gigantic credit collapse and subsequent financial world meltdown which is continuing as we write. All from a simple idea to "help the little people" -- who would show their appreciation by re-electing the Democrat politicians who were the vocal cheerleaders (and recipients of gobs of doggy-lender re-election campaign funds).

So the pattern becomes clear. Harvard Law School attorneys -- noted for their lack of economic knowledge -- create an easy-money system which relies on flakey loans provided by fat-cat financial manipulators who are the primary contributors to the re-election campaigns of the legislators -- almost exclusively Democrats.

But this makes sense.

Demographers have shown that since the 1940s, the Democratic Party has segued from the party of the working middle class to the party who's voters look like a double-hump camel: they are either the poor who vote for entitlements or the extremely wealthy millionaires and billionaires who provide the "juice" to buy the allegiance of the first group.

Meanwhile, the Republicans have morphed from the fat-cats (who are all mostly Democrats now -- see the Obama campaign donation records at www.fec.gov) to the party of the working and middle class which saw landslide support for an ex-union-leader and Democrat-turned-Republican, Ronald Reagan.

The solution is simple: the Democratic Party in control of the Senate and House needs to get back to its roots and stop being co-opted by the world's wealthiest -- and financially manipulative -- Wall Street "titans".

A return to the values of the small business owner would be a good start: hard work and personal savings, not get-rich-quick (like the Democrat-voting dot.com billionaires). Small business is the real growth engine of the American economy, and these "mom and pop" shops employ the majority of our citizens.

This may be more difficult than it seems, however. Small business owners strongly empathize with people like Gov. Sarah Palin and her fishing-boat husband, not Joe Biden, another attorney who turned professional politician one year out of law school, in 1969.

So what's next?

The U.S. Government will create a Resolution Trust Company to temporarily take over the perhaps $1 trillion doggy-loan portfolios of the nation's lenders and free up the grid-locked system to start inter-bank lending again so the free-market economy can continue to grow. This "New RTC" will eventually dispose of its portfolio -- hopefully, as before, at a profit for the taxpayer.

A centralized regulator, most likely the Federal Reserve, will subsume most of the other eight regulators. Regulations which worked for decades, like Glass-Steagall, the up-tic sell rule and sound-accounting regulations may be restored.

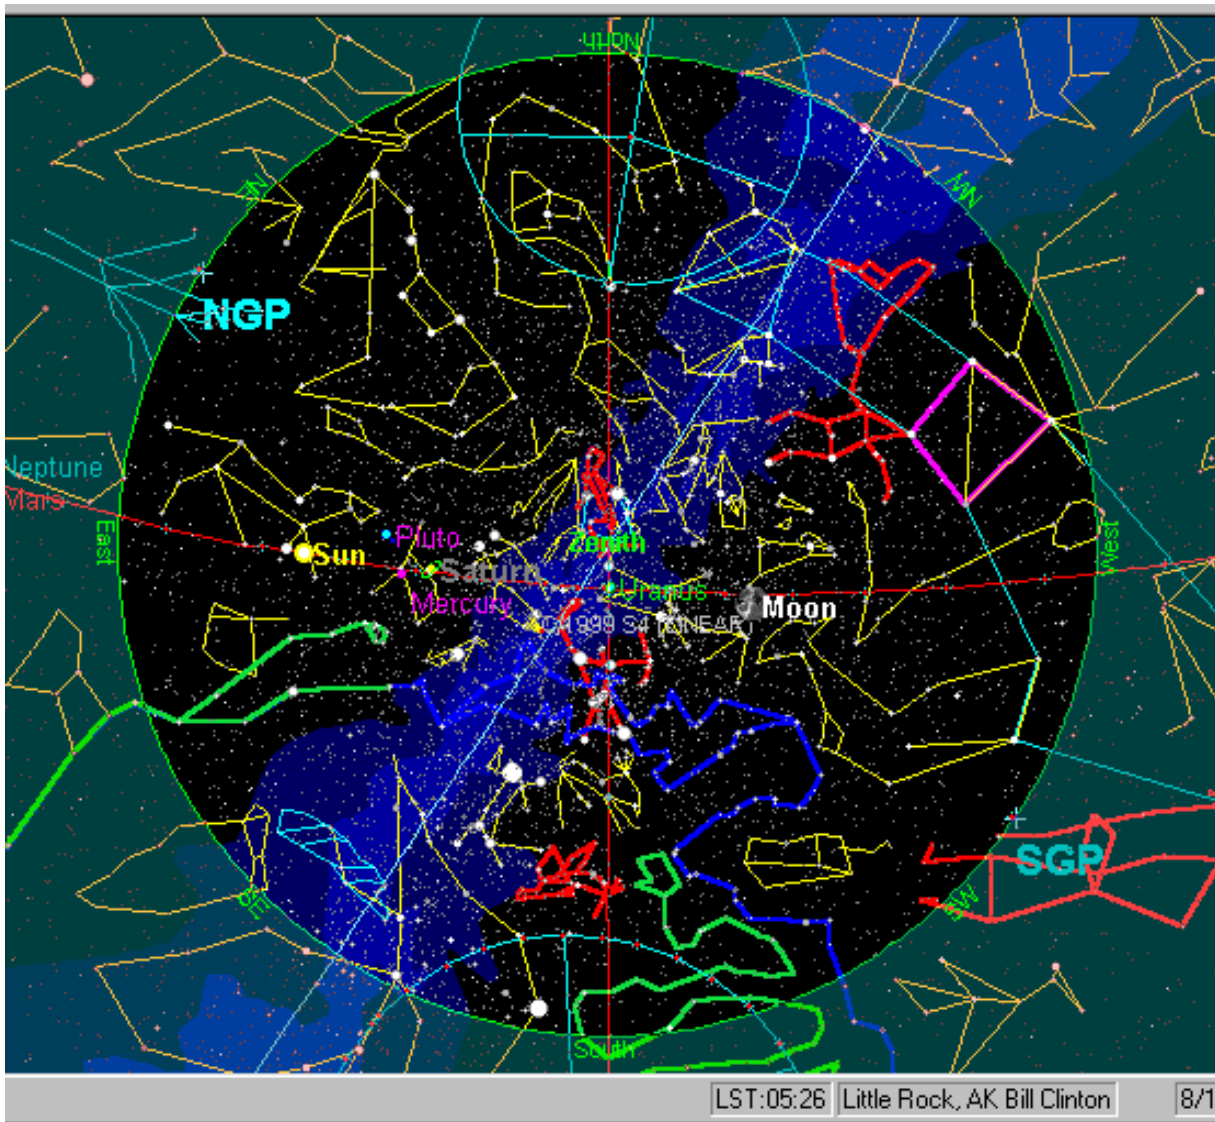

And maybe, Congress will remove its addiction to the Wall Street money re-election game. Without the latter, of course, we can expect to see another, worse, financial fiasco in the next decade or two.

Since our fiat dollar currency is now only backed by the "faith and credit" of the United States" (there isn't any politician-proof gold or silver backstopping this fiscal house-of-cards, Kennedy & Nixon killed them off), it's inevitable. We'll see.

THE RETURN OF AKHENATEN AND NEFERTITI

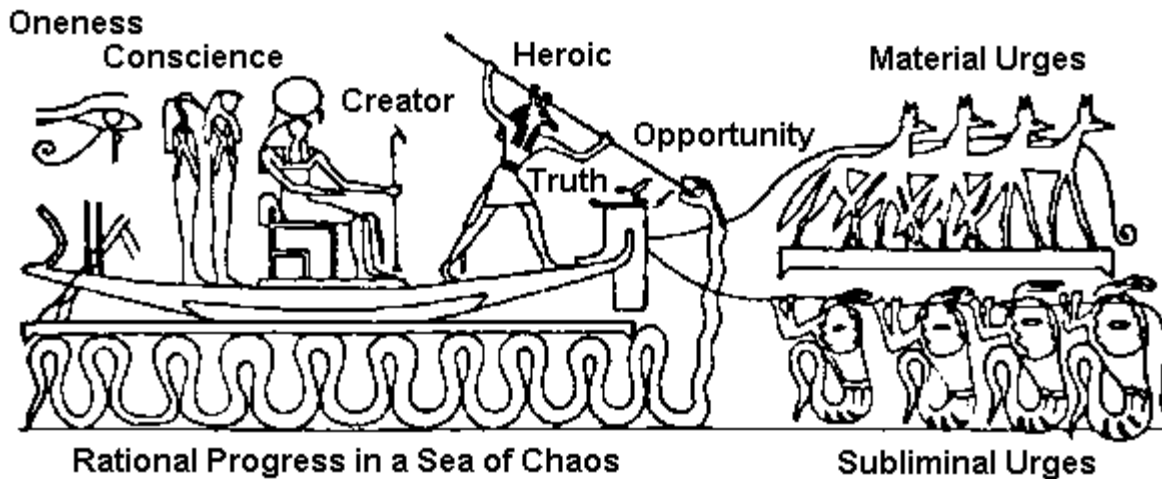

The election of Bill and Hillary Clinton to serve in the position of the living King of Kings seemed to have come and gone while the electorate of the people was out to lunch. Their reign in the most powerful house on earth was bounded by a man named Bush. The reign also represented the last "kingdom" before the two thousand years were ended in 2001. So, it is quite clear that the idea of a usurping ruler and a restored king is not simply a conjuring in the imagination. The facts are reality. So, lets take a look at how the Clinton's were used to reestablish the concept of the kingdom of the first father.

In the zenith chart for Bill Clinton's natal moment, we can see the depth of his motivation. One memorable statement made by the man was, "It all depends upon what the meaning of is, is." On his southern meridian we begin with the serpent Apophis and the scroll, or nesting materials, in the mouth of Horus. The celestial icon of cosmic truth is aligned "on the record" with the man who toyed with the meaning of the word "is." But, above Horus is Seth. There is little question that the man Bill Clinton was a liberal. Anyone who can question the meaning of "is," has to be a usurping liberal.

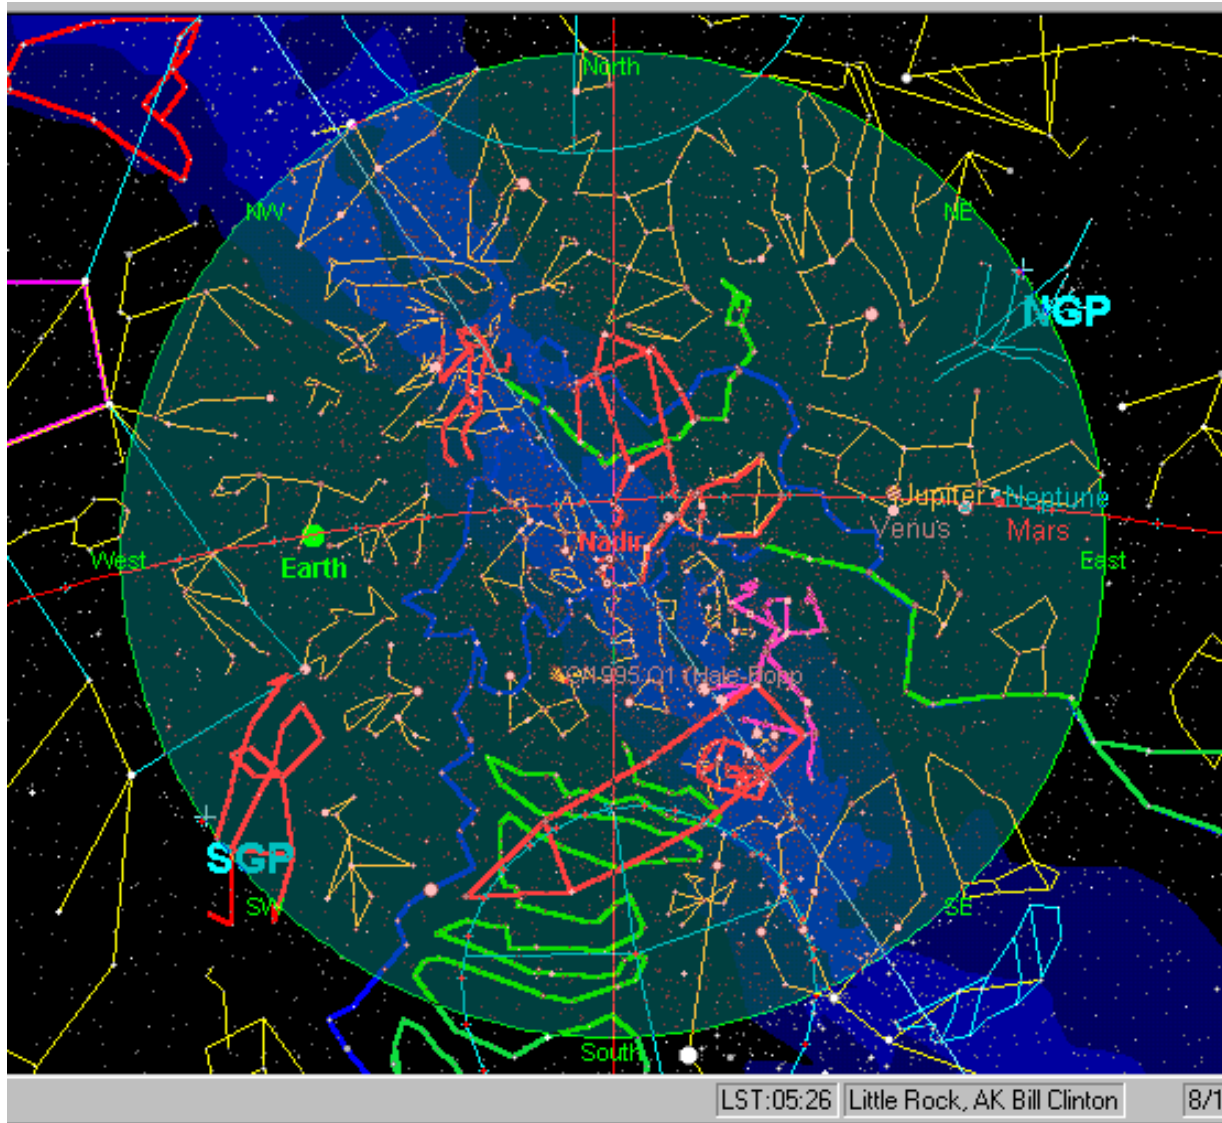

To understand the Bill Clinton personality, we have to go back to the Egyptian vignette which illustrates the motives of Seth. The neters in the barque of the sun have meanings which can be summarized in the following image translations.

Seth and Horus are at the bow of the barque of the sun. Horus is the "little bird" on the bow pedestal. Seth is protecting his version of "truth." That version is that there is a great serpent which is slowing the barque of the sun, and that serpent is trying to consume Seth's tiny dream. But, Seth is oblivious to the captain and the rest of the crew on the barque. Seth, by taking the "heroic opportunity" fails to realize that supraliminal and subliminal urges are pulling the barque over the serpent, and that the serpent is holding the barque off the bottom of the sea. This is the nature of a rational being. It focuses on what it knows, and doesn't have time for what it doesn't know. Had Seth simply taken a look at the "big picture," he would have seen that the serpent is before the "little bird" as a lesson in wisdom of the cosmos.

This zenith meridian of Bill Clinton depicts a Good Shepherd saving a lost she-goat above a headless man. This was the experience, and the motivation of Bill Clinton. The sexual escapades of the man are a direct result of the foundation of his rational being. That is clearly shown in his nadir chart below.

The nadir chart is interpreted as the view of the child from heaven's perspective. In this view, the southern end of the meridian is swamped in the "trash heap of the world." This is how Bill Clinton began his life. His biological father had died, and his legal father was an alcoholic. The primary motivation which the childhood experience gave the man was to strive to be the "First Father." That motivation is shown with the comet Hale-Bopp at the back of the head of the Peacock and the Altar on the meridian under the tail of the Great Red Dragon. The nadir of Bill Clinton's natal chart is centered at the Cosmic Womb, between the stinger of the Great Red Dragon, the arrow in the bow of Sagittarius, and the foot of Ophiuchus. This man was seen from heaven as a person molded by rational gnosis (Sagittarius), controlled by lust (Great Red Dragon), and motivated to raise up the serpent in the wilderness (Ophiuchus). In other words, the last King of Kings before the end times were completed was a man with no recognizable capacity or legacy for being a First Father, but all the power to become a First Father.

All Bill Clinton needed to fulfill the quest for First Father status was the female power of the "life giving waters." This is how Hillary Rodham Clinton fits into the picture. The only significant constellations on her zenith meridian are Capricorn and Aquarius, and Cepheus, the King of Kings. But, that is all that was needed to make the man, Bill Clinton, into a First Father, so that she could be First Mother. When we look closely at her zenith, we see that it stood between the rock of Andromeda, and the feet of the Swan. She would be motivated by the desire to become the first woman in the position of First Father, or King of Kings.

This is not the first time this has ever happened. For, when Amenophis III died around 1375 BC, he was succeeded by a pharaoh called Akhenaten. During the first six years of his reign, the record shows that it was his wife, Nefertiti, who was the master of all Egypt. This queen who would be king, had used a less than stellar man to effect the greatest empire that had ever existed. The effect she accomplished was the quickest self destruction of a sovereign empire on record. A similar result came to Hillary Rodham that came to Nefertiti. Nefertiti was cast into a lake of fire, and she, along with her consort, Akhenaten, was erased from the history books of Egypt. Hillary Rodham was cast into a lake of scandalous fire which caused her dominating female perspective to be set back on its heels.

Look carefully at the horizon circle of Hillary's natal chart, above. The southern horizon has the Stork, and across the river in front of the stork (right) is Sagittarius. His bow is aimed at Cosmic Gnosis, and the Southern Crown is at his feet. Beyond Sagittarius is Ophiuchus, the symbol of First Father. Around the horizon at the northwest is Bootes. This is the original position of the Good Shepherd, a man. Further around we have the Great Bear sitting on the horizon, and behind the bear on the northeast horizon is Auriga, the Good Shepherd at Mount Horeb. Finishing the circuit of Hillary's horizon we have the "bull of my mother," Taurus, the Whale of Jonah, and Jonah himself, Sculptor. The secret to Hillary's motivation is that she gives birth to wisdom (Stork-Sagittarius) by aiding the First Father to raise up the serpent in the wilderness (Ophiuchus-Serpens) to become the Good Shepherd on the top of the cosmic world (Bootes-Coma) and on the esoteric mountain of Horeb (Auriga). Mixed within these four men in the heavenly hosts are five or six beasts; Stork, Serpens, Bear, Lynx, Bull, and Whale. These beasts are symbols of the subliminal power which Hillary has been given. The conflict in the zenith chart is that Hillary must be a motivator of men, only to end up with the dreams of becoming First Father dashed to the ground (Sculptor). Neither the feet of the Stork, nor the dead man, Sculptor, are above the horizon. She can motivate, but she will not be able to "walk the talk." Why not?

The answer to that question is shown in the view from the heavens toward Hillary's birth location. The nadir is located in the sails of the great Barque of the Sun. And though she has regal bearing of Leo at the northern nadir meridian, the "trash heap of the world" is beyond the feet of the Stork, and the Peacock on the south nadir meridian. And, most profoundly, the Leo-Cancer Boundary and the mouth of the Lion is filled with Pluto, the Lord of Darkness, with an abundance of Time for Rationalizing (Saturn, Mars). A Donkey Man with a phallus of cosmic proportions is going to cause her ship to suffer in a cosmic tempest because her Leo-Cancer Boundary is a corruption of feelings and willfulness. She will only do what she feels like doing. The Feather of Truth is just east of the nadir point, having passed her birthplace. The Scull and Crossed Bones are approaching her birthplace (the nadir stars move from west to east, left to right), and the Barque of the Sun her sails empower is just a Pirate's Ship. The Place of the Skull (Golgotha) and the Crossed Bones (Crux) are a Jolly Roger at the stern where her meridian crosses.

The message is not that Hillary Rodham and Bill Clinton are misguided rationalists, though that is clearly to be a strong part of their legacy. The message of greatest importance is the association of the Cosmic Principle of the return of a son to the kingdom of First Father. The Tree of Life had been abandoned when Akhenaten and Nefertiti came to the throne of Egypt in 1375 BC. The peaking of the liberating forces of Seth in the election of 1992 AD was aided and abetted by forces outside the normal political intrigues. First, a "third party" man named Ross Perot, caused the Bush in the First Father position to be ousted by Bill Clinton's physical charm, and his idea, "Don't stop, thinking about tomorrow," without a majority vote from the people. Eight years later, the Clinton regime is ousted by the return of a Bush who gained more votes than Bill Clinton, and yet did not have a majority, either. Only, in the election of 2000, it is an antiquated "third party" man named Ralph Nadir who turns the Clinton regime upside down. Nadir does this running on a platform which honors the right to life of the environment, the very subject which Clinton's protégé, All Gore, had brought to the forefront. The point is that the Tree of Life (Bush) was restored when the son of the First Father was placed on the throne by an act of the Supreme Court (Judgment Day), after the votes were influenced by the environment. We think we know what we are doing, and yet, we cannot even count our votes cleanly, nor grow more compatible with our environment.

These two people, Hillary and Bill, were no accident on the political horizon. They were a statement about raising up the serpent in the wilderness. This fact is clearly shown in the positions of the planets for Bill and Hillary. Bill's natal sun was between the fore legs of Leo, at Regulus. A very clear sign that a king was born. The boundary between Leo and Cancer is swamped with planets for his birth, with Pluto, the symbol of eternal being, sitting on the boundary. Mercury and Saturn marked the Crab, or more appropriately, the solar house of Khephera. They tell us that the moment of the rising Sun is at hand. The location of Uranus, First Father, precisely at the natal zenith meridian for Bill Clinton, is a message of intent to raise up the icon's message regarding Original Intent. The Moon on the same chart was located at the true "1st of Aries" under the Medusa's head at the heels of Aries, a very clear description of the coming life of the child. The rest of the planets were all in Virgo's house, with Jupiter precisely aligned with Spica, at her womb; a king had been born. Venus was at the heart of the cosmic mother, while Neptune and Mars were behind her neck. They seem to be saying that rational (Mars) perceptions of the sea of emotions (Neptune) will be a pain in the neck for her (Virgo-Cosmic Mother, Hillary). Even so, the malevolent beginning for the man child declares that he was destined to be king. His task is shown by the placement of the planet Earth at the forward leg of Aquarius. The Earth would be saved by a man child unworthy of kingship by ancestry, but divined as such by the oracles of time.

Hillary's natal zenith chart gives a hint of her destiny, for the Earth was at the juncture of the "I Am," and the Moon was at the Bridge of Sirrah in the Tree of Life. Here self motivation (zenith chart) was to give the Tree of Life back to the women on Earth. Hillary's nadir chart shows that Saturn and Pluto had crossed the Leo-Cancer boundary into Leo, as Mars ensconced himself upon it. The time for restoration of the Kingdom of Heaven was at hand, and the boundary of feelings would be crossed by a rational being. Her natal Sun had just been born of the Virgin, and Neptune was in attendance at the neck of Virgo. The First Father, Uranus, was ready to cross into the heavens above at Orion's outstretched arm. But, for this woman child, there was to be a struggle with the Great Red Dragon. Within its claws were Jupiter, Venus, and Mercury. Venus and Mercury were in attendance at the apex of the balance, a clear expression of the intent to maintain a balance with Love and Wisdom. Jupiter sat too close to the mouth of the Great Red Dragon, or the pincers of Scorpio, to assure that greed and lust would not vex the woman child's dreams.

These "signs of the times" illustrate one undeniable fact, the Heavens Declare the Glory of God. They also speak volumes in wisdom of the ages. The wisdom is that the battle between Seth and Horus, is the struggle between liberal and conservative perspectives. But, the time which is depicted, and the current sign of the times, is the return of First Father. Some 3175 years earlier, womankind had attempted to wrestle with God in the ideogram of the Aten. The reaction to the wrestling match was a total repression of feminine domination, which is what Hillary attempted to restore.

Akhenaten and Nefertiti are the King and Queen of the heavens, Cepheus and Cassiopeia. They are also Bill Clinton and Hillary Rodham. The spirits embodied in these three couples are the same. They show on the surface that "father knows best." But, behind the sacred facade is the clear motivation that says, "It is not what is known, but who is known, that determines the course of time." The children are enthusiastic to learn the father's wisdom, but they will not accept it without the permission of the mother. It is the mother that gives the child the capacity to sense, and it is the senses and feelings at the Leo-Cancer boundary that establish the rational meaning behind all expressions. That is why Mars sat on that boundary in Hillary's nadir natal chart. But, we must see through the light, for which the Aten is a hieroglyph to cognize, and then recognize, that we are one, and time is just a game played by the stars. The game is recorded by the "signs of the times." The purpose of the game is the consumption of the fruit on the Tree of Life, for the sake of the seed to come. In this role, the man is simply "useful to the Aten," which is a feminine sign of nurturing benevolence. What could be more useful to a "Beautiful One Who Is Come" than to tell her what she wants to feel. This is the "heart" of liberalism in which truth is beyond self judgment.

When the episode of Bill Clinton and Hillary Rodham is associated with the "signs of the times," it becomes possible to see that Aten and Yahweh are one, though nurturing and anger differentiate their spirits. The difference is in how rational knowledge crossed the Leo-Cancer boundary between the Kingdom of Heaven, and the Hearts of Men at the Gateway of Men. When rational knowledge is lost in a fatherless man, or confused in a mother of limited nurturing qualities, the Intent of First Father does not cross the boundary. When the Tree of Life is restored, symbolically or politically, it is the forces of the Aten and Yahweh that empower the mortal experience. And, it is the battle between Seth and Horus that carries the messages of the Original Intent. When Seth returns to walk hand in hand with Anubis, the Day of Judgment is at the hand of Horus.

Seth is simply the rationalizations of the soul walking hand in hand with the master of material creation. The heart of Seth, though hidden in fantasies, has truth bearing fruit. When that fruit is placed in balance with Cosmic Truth, the heart of Seth is found to comprehend what the meaning of is, is. The record of truthful understanding is logged by the lord of the gate, Thoth, and truthful rationalizations are guided by the son of experience, the conforming Horus, to the throne of First Father, Osiris, at the ramp of reality.

Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me. To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne. (KJV)

When the Tree of Life is restored, Seth and Horus walk together, as liberals walk with conservatives, and the Lion lays with the Lamb. It is not always correct to conservatively do what has been done, any more than it is always correct to liberally do what has not been done. A liberal will sing, "Don't stop, thinking about tomorrow." A conservative will sing, "Hail to the Chief." But, on that day when the judgment of desired feelings becomes a matter of will, all truth results from experience. For, when the creation was conceived, it was conceived with certain intent. Recognizing the intent at conception is just a matter of communicating with the Signs of the Times, as First Father's vision is restored to the Tree of Life. If this were not so, then we would have Lieberman and Gore. The question still remains whether the future generations will carry the errors of their ancestors forever, or whether the lesson of Adam and Eve has finally been received, to guide us through the wilderness.

Post Script 8/25/08: Liberalism was the subject on April 18, 2001 when this essay was first posted, but after September 11, 2001, survival mastered the throne of the First Father. When the threat to survival approaches a conservative, the reactions are to restore what was threatened, as did G. W. Bush. Liberals would have negotiated and offered Al Quida a bottle of pabulum to not hit another tower. Once the threat to survival has been abated, then liberalism rises as if the threat never existed. The reaction in America to 9/11 has knocked Seth and Horis out of the Boat of the Sun. Now, it would appear that the pabulum seekers have gained the upper hand on the knowledge that G. W. Bush knocked down the Twin Towers and sent a hurricane to destroy the Big Easy. The followers of Horus have been "struck by lightning" twice, and the terrorists of 9/11 won an enormous prize in the bankrupting of America, which was their goal. As we begin the Democratic Convention, it would be a good idea to get a sponge to soak up all the spilt milk, just remember it did not fall from a breast, but from a powdery mix. After the pabulum seekers have denied the threat to America's Dream, look back at Egypt when the Liberals came to power and destroyed her empire from within. The signs all say that the children of America are suckers on an empty bottle of pabulum.

Post Script 10/08/08: Now, as we see that Hillary's journey to become First Father has been stopped by another fatherless child, we should not wonder what will happen next. The failures of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mack were predicted in 1938 before they were formed. The Glass-Steagall Act of 1933 was intended to prevent the debacle of October 1929 and October 2008. Why would any president in his right mind send his country back on the course that came after the Great Stock Market Crash? The answer is simple. He was not in his right mind because for him First Father was a dream about tomorrow. The same destiny awaits the man from Kansas who now struts down a Yellow Brick Road on the way to Kingdom Come. For ten years the stock market tumbled until Fannie Mae was born and the mortgages of America were secured. Why did Bill Clinton and Franklin Delano Raines, a man named after the president who presided over the Great Depression, bring down the house of stock cards? Because they could. Neither Clinton or Raines knew the meaning of is.

The Hebrews drove his serpent out of the Garden in Heaven. Now, with the whole cosmos of Egypt revealed, we can recognize that the Serpent of Ra was the Night Boat which carried Cosmic Consciousness through the dark wilderness in the still vital body of Osiris.
